Not Paint

The worst mistake in painting is not putting the most That costs about 10 percent; you keep your money a year and pay 10 percent for it.

Paint would have to come down 25 percent to make 10 percent on the job, for wages do not go down.

The worst mistake is "cheap" paint. It costs from 50 percent to 100, first cost, and another in west.

What a liar "cheap" is! "Put-on" is bad enough; "cheap" is ten times worse.

DAVISON CHEMICAL COMPANY

FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND 6 PER CENT GOLD BONDS.

Dated May 1, 1912 Due May 1, 1932

Interest payable May 1, & Nov. 1.

FREE FROM FEDERAL INCOME TAX.

The Davison Chemical Company, incorporated in 1902, succeeded to the business started by Mr. William Davison in Baltimore 83 years ago.

The Company has just completed at Curtis Bay the largest and most modern sulphuric acid plant in the world. Its product is necessary for the manufacture of fertilizer as well as for the manufacture of steel, copper, etc.

The Company buys its raw material on five-year contracts, and sells the bulk of its output on long-term contracts. It is protected for the future as to its raw material, and through its control of phosphate rock is in the position to extend its business, should it become necessary, to the manufacture of acid phosphate.

The bonds are secured by assets of over two to one. Earnings for 1914 were three times the bond interest and taxes.

The Sinking Fund will retire $73,500 bonds this year and nearly the entire issue before maturity.

The management is able and progressive and the Board is composed of some of the most successful business men in Baltimore.

We recommend these bonds as a desirable investment, yielding an attractive return.

FULL CREW LAWS HURT GRANGERS

Lack of Labor Keeps Farmers From Availing of Opportunities.

Philadelphia, Feb. 26. R. L. O'Donnell, chairman of the executive committee of the associated farmers, seeking support of the grange organizations of Pennsylvania and New Jersey in effecting repeal of the Full Crew Laws of those states, has addressed a personal letter to about 5,000 farmers, in which he sets forth chief reasons for repeal.

Mr. O'Donnell cites the stand taken against Full Crew measures by the grangers of Texas, Missouri and New York. The farmers, he asserts, should help secure repeal of those laws in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, not only because they are fundamentally bad legislation, and as such opposed to good government, but also because the farmers are confronted with labor problems which such laws make more difficult.

"This year," the letter reads in part, "because of the higher prices for farm produce, there is a call for increased plantings, and the greatest drawback you have in taking advantage of your opportunity this year is lack of labor."

"The men employed as a result of these laws have usually come from the farm, naturally seeking the higher pay which the railroads are obliged to give."

"The creation of extra jobs has called for the expenditure of over $2,000,000 a year by railroads in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, which must be borne indirectly by the shippers. It has taken away from the railroads money which was needed for elimination of grade crossings, purchase of refrigerator and stock cars, construction of sidings in producing territory, and from general development work."

"There is no purpose to lay off men whose services are necessary to adequately man trains; the object is merely to eliminate men for whom there is no real necessity and for whom jobs exist only by elicit of law."

Judge Gray's Rules for Success.

Judge Elbert H. Gary recently set forth for the edification of young America the following requisites of success as he sees them:

"First—A young man should be thoroughly honest, frank and sincere. When he says anything he should tell the truth."

"Second—He should be considerate of the interests of others. Of course he should seek to protect and promote his own interests, but never to the undue or unfair prejudice of others. This he will find wise from the standpoint of good morals and good business."

"Third—He should have a good education. First of all, he should be educated in the fundamentals, including particularly grammar, rhetoric, spelling, arithmetic, geography and history. The more he knows in other lines, including the classics, so much the better."

"Fourth—He should be consistent and careful in looking after his health, both physically and morally."

"Fifth—He should be ambitious to succeed in every respect that is honorable. He should be energetic, persistent, studious, thoughtful and faithful to all the interests he represents."

"Sixth—The young man should be patriotic and loyal to his own country; but he should avoid any feeling or disposition of hostility toward people of any other country or nation, save only for the purpose of self-defense."

"Finally, and above everything else he should adopt as his religion the Golden Rule and practice it, whatever may be his profession or avocation."

Support Your Home Merchant.

An Iowa farmer, Hans Garous, recently told the following story of how the Mail Order business worked injury to the community in which he lived. He said:

"We farmers need awakening to the fact that we have unmistakably reached the period where we must think and plan. I am one of the slow German farmers that had to be shown, and I am now giving my experience that others may profit, for knowledge is more expensive now than ten years ago."

"Twenty nine years ago I began my farm career. I had an old team and $50. Our furniture was mostly home made chairs, cupboard and lounge made from dry goods boxes, neatly covered with ten cent cretonne by my girl wife. We rented eighty acres. Being a boy of good habits I got all needed machinery and groceries of our home merchants on credit, until fall crops were sold. The first year was a wet season and I did not make enough to pay creditors. I went to each on date of promise and explained conditions, paying as much as possible, and they all carried the balance over another year. They continued to accommodate me until I was able to buy a forty-acre piece of my own."

"As soon as I owned these few acres the mail order houses began sending me catalogues, and gradually I began sending my loose change to them, letting my accounts stand in my home town where I had gotten my accommodation when I needed it."

"We then had one of the thirdest little villages in the state—good fine of business in all the branches, merchants who were willing to help an honest fellow over a bad year, and a town full of people who came twice a week to trade and visit. Our little country town supported a library, high school ball team, and we had big celebrations every year."

"A farm near a live town soon doubles in value. I sold my forty acres at a big advance and bought an eighty, gradually adding to it until I had 200 acres of the best land in Iowa. I then felt no need of asking favors, and found it easy to patronize the mail order agents that came almost weekly to our door. I regret to say that I was the first in the country to make up a neighborhood bill and send it to a mail order house. Though we got bit every once in a while, we got in the habit of sending away for stuff."

"Gradually our merchants lessened their stock of goods—for lack of patronage. Finally we began to realize that when we needed a bolt quickly for machinery, or clothing for sickness or death, we had to wait and see a way for it, which wasn't so pleasant. One by one our merchants moved to places where they were appreciated, and men of less energy moved in. Gradually our town has gone down; our business houses are 'tacky' in appearance, a number are empty; our schools, churches and walks are going down, we have no band, no library, nor ball team. There is no business done in the town, and therefore no taxes to keep things up. Hotel is closed for lack of travel. Go down to the depot when the freight pulls in and you will see the sequel in the mail order packages."

"Nine years ago my farm was worth $195 an acre; today I'd have a hard matter to sell it at $167 an acre. It is too far from a live town—so every farmer has said that wants to buy. He wants a place near schools and churches, where his children can have advantages. I have awakened to the fact that in helping to pull the town down it has cost me $5,600 in nine years."

Know Paint

There's a paint education in this advertisement.

Buy by the job, not gallon. Buy by the paint put on—that's the job.

The price of paint is so much a gallon; that can't be helped, but amounts to nothing.

The price of painting is so much a day that can't be helped, but amounts to nothing.

Put them together. How can you do it? You've got to or lose perhaps half of your money.

Devote 10 gallons enough for the average job: an average paint. 15 Now reckon your costs. Count labor a day for a gallon. Devote 10 days: the other 15.

Devote about $50: the average paint about $70 or $80: the dealer the labor the bigger the difference, always that way.

But that's for the job. How long is it going to last? One twice as long as the other.

Dangers of Spring.

When nature arouses from her winter lethargy and the first faint promises of spring soften the wind, man in common with all animal life harkens to the foreboding.

The desire for change and relief from the winter routine is strong in us all and while this is the time when caution should be exercised our impulses seem to lead us to cast it aside. The high death rate from pneumonia and tuberculosis which is the inevitable accompaniment of the early spring months is an irrefutable evidence that this change from winter habits requires the exercise of caution to prevent evil results.

The city dweller in particular is apt to over-eat and under-exercise during the winter season. As a result when spring approaches his physical strength is below par, he becomes easily fatigued and therefore susceptible to the attacks of disease germs. Old people who suffer from the cold

CONSUMPTION TAKES 350 PEOPLE DAILY

Over 350 people succumb to consumption every day in the United States. Science proves that the germs only thrive when the system is weakened from lack of exercise, overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists. The best physicians point out that during changes in the blood should be made rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion for meals. The cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood; it particularly strengthens the lungs and throat, while it repulses the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption. If you work indoors, the easily feel languid and nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known. It is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug. Avoid substitutes. 14-12 Scott & Borden, Elmfield, N. Y.

during the winter and who do not appreciate that ventilation need not mean exposure, are apt to suffer from the sudden changes of temperature at this season of the year. It is particularly due to these winter habits of poor ventilation and insufficient exercise that when spring arrives we feel debilitated.

The sensible liver who sleeps the year round in the fresh air, eats in moderation and exercises rationally is far less subject to spring fever and spring ailments than the more self-indulgent individual.

During March when fluctuations of the temperature are frequent, care should be taken to maintain an even bodily temperature by proper protection in the way of clothing. Better some slight discomfort at noon than to be chilled on the way home from work at night. Moderation in diet is also advisable. This with a reasonable amount of exercise and well ventilated sleeping rooms will aid in resisting the dangers accompanying the approach of spring.

The Dope on Spring.

FROM THE CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER

Somebody saw the first robin:
Somebody saw the first snake!
Somebody knew that winter was through
For his ankles began to ache.
Somebody saw the groundhog,
Somebody else, by jing,
Peered 'way back in the almanac
And said he'd discovered spring!

I haven't seen a robin.
I haven't seen a snake—
My liver is right and each lung and heart

Never has felt an ache:
I never saw a woodchuck.
And I wouldn't know the thing
If I went and did—but believe me, kid,
I know that the year's at spring!

The frost is still in the meadow,
The snow is still on the ground,
But down in my merry soul's a very
Wonderful thought profound!
The winds may come and abuse us.
The storms may arrive and sting—
We may get a blizzard—but down in my gizzard
I know that it's really spring!

Court Room Retort.

Two young attorneys were wrangling for a long time before Judge Knox of Virginia over a point of law. His honor rendered his decision, and the sprig who had lost impudently remarked, "Your honor, there is a growing opinion that all the fools are not dead yet." "Certainly," answered the court, with unruffled good humor, "I quite agree with you, Mr. B., and congratulate you upon your healthy appearance."

Badly Matched.

Mrs. Yeast—This paper says the matching of colors has been brought down to an exact science by the invention of a machine for the purpose.

Very Trying.

"Dear sir," wrote the anxious mother, "I am afraid Johnny is not trying enough."

"Dear madam," replied the harassed teacher, "I assure you that Johnny is quite trying enough. He is the most trying boy in the class."

Power of Beauty.

Beauty gets the best of it. Poets, humane organizations, sentimentalists, make a great ado about the bird that goes to adorn a woman's hat. But who has any sympathy for the hen whose neck is wrung to make a pojape?—Don Marquis

The Brunt of the Battle

THE WEAKER SEX —Park.

It isn't the legends that bear it
It isn't the men that go
Face to face to the cannon
Or meeting the sabre's blow,
But these, the women and children,
The wives and mothers of men;
For them the brunt of the battle,
They face it again and again.

The wives and sisters and mothers,
The sweethearts, troubled and sore;
For these the brunt of battle
For these the horror of war,
Thank God for their quiet courage,
Their trust and their pride and joy;
They know the brunt of the battle,
And they are the heroes, my boy.

—Bentzen Bard, Baltimore Sun.

What a Dreadnought Costs.

Some idea of the fighting power of a Dreadnought may be gathered from the fact that the extreme range of its guns is twenty-five miles, while they can be very effective at a range of twelve miles. They are most deadly, however, at a range of between five and six miles.

The twelve-inch gun of a Dreadnought is fifty feet long and if set up on an end would be higher than many a country church tower. The cost of each gun is about $100,000, while each time it is fired $100 vanishes into the air.

As a protection against the guns of the enemy a Dreadnought is covered with armor costing $120 per ton, and as something like 4,500 tons are used in covering the vessel this means an expenditure of close upon $540,000.

Boilers and machinery at $225,000; masts and steamboats at $8,000; torpedo tubes at $3,000 each and torpedoes at $500 each, and $50,000 for searchlights and electrical fittings are other items in the bill which go to make a Dreadnought the costliest vessel afloat.—Penton's.

Bees and the Kill.

In his book, "Forty-one Years in India," Lord Roberts tells the following amusing story:

"A curious incident happened at the Alambagh. I was employed inside the enclosure when all at once I heard a noise and commotion some little distance off. Getting on to the roof, I looked over the plain and saw our troops dying in every direction. There was no firing, no enemy in sight, but evidently something was wrong; so I mounted my horse and rode to the scene of confusion, where I found that the ignominious flight of our troops was caused by infuriated bees, which had been disturbed by an officer of the Ninth lancers thoughtlessly thrusting a lance into their nest. There were no serious consequences, but the highlanders were heard to remark on the unsuitability of their dress for an encounter with an enemy of that description."

A Tinker Inspired Wagner.

A tinker has established himself opposite our house and stunned my ears all day long with his incessant hammering. In my disgust at never being able to find a detached house protected from every kind of noise I was on the point of deciding to give up composing altogether until the time when this indispensable condition should be fulfilled. But it was precisely my rage over the tinker that, in a moment of agitation, gave me the theme for Siegfried's furious outburst against the buzzing Mime. I played over the childish quarrelsome Pöter theme in G minor to my sister, furiously singing the words at the same time, which made us all laugh so much that I decided to make one more effort. This resulted in my writing down a good part of the first scene by the time Liszt arrived, Oct. 13 (1856)—Richard Wagner in His Autobiography.

Recreation and Mental Disease.

The problem of fatigue and its relation to efficiency is becoming more and more appreciated in our industrial institutions, so much so, indeed, that we may truthfully say that, in the United States at least, the art of work is being mastered to a degree little short of perfection. Not so much can be said with reference to our mastery of the art of play. Let us not forget that the art of play presents an important problem which requires serious effort for its solution. Relaxation from the stress and tension of modern American city life means much for our future physical, mental and moral health and efficiency. This is a tired nation, perhaps the most tired nation on earth. New York Medical Journal.

British Life Guards.

England's famous life guards were organized just after the restoration. They were recruited from the old cavaliers who fought for Prince Charles Stuart, and in 1661 they were formed into three troops, then known as the King's Own, the Duke of York's and the Duke of Albany's. At that time it was always demanded that one troop should be raised in Scotland in honor of the house of Stuart.—London Tit Bits.

One Way to Use a Poet.

"Did that onion poetize about you do you any good?"

"Did me a heap of good."

"Those external applications are of ten efficacious."

"I applied it internally. The onions smelled so good that I ate them."—Kansas City Journal.

Horse Sense.

The phrase "horse sense" was discussed in class, and the teacher told one of the boys to write a sentence containing that phrase. The boy handed the ten minutes and produced this: "My father told me the horse died, and he must see the horse sense."

Peter the Great.

What Alfred the Great is to early Britain that Peter the Great, in his crude way, is to Russia. It was a race of people found adequate expression in one person that race was the Saxon race in their great emperor.—Century Magazine.

Hardy Ants.

Ants can stand extremes of heat or cold. Forty-eight hours exposure to frost will not kill them, and one sort has been observed to build its nest in the chimneys in a blacksmith's forge.

Hope springs exulting on triumphant wing.—Barus.

Tenniel's Mustache.

The later portraits of Sir John Tenniel, the famous cartoonist of London Punch, show him wearing a full beard and mustache, but his most familiar appearance was with a mustache only, a long and curly specimen, worthy of one of Omaha's guardians. The story of how he came to grow it is interesting.

After the Crimean war the return of the soldiers with full beards started a fashion against which three Punch art ists paled red. One day, being out on horseback together, they solemnly halted at a crossroads and swore on their oaths to grow crops never to wear hair on lip or chin. Tenniel was one of the party. Deech another and R. T. Pugh the third.

Each man remained true to the vow. Tenniel went to Skye, and on his return with a mustache called on Tenniel. He thrust his head in at the cartoonist's door and dumbly waited. "You seem half," was Tenniel's exclamation. "Then I, too, must!" And he did.

We Ought to Know.

Lady—I should like to look at a flat which I see is for rent in this building but no one has answered my bell.

Man—I'll show it to you. Right this way, mum.

"Well, this is something like it. The rooms will suit, I'm sure. What sort of a janitor have they here?"

"The very best in the city, mum."

"Obdurate?"

"The kindest hearted gentleman to be found anywhere, mum."

"Honest?"

"As the day is long, mum."

"Is he attentive to his duties?"

"He's just workin' himself to death, mum. Always thinkin' up some new thing to make folks comfortable."

"Well, I declare! I wouldn't lose this flat for the world. Where is the janitor now?"

"I'm him, mum."—Kansas City Star.

The Green Flames.

The greatest discovery of borax ever made was the result of the purest chance. A number of years ago a man named Aaron Winters was prospecting for gold or other precious minerals in that American inferno known as Death valley. He had his wife with him, and they two walked together until their provisions were at an end; then, bitterly disappointed at their ill success they started back toward civilization. The first night they camped in Ash valley. Here they lit a fire and prepared to cook their supper. Mrs. Winters called her husband's attention to the peculiar green flame of the flames. He did not speak, but with shading hands scratched away the earth and suddenly shouted: "We're rich. Here we're rich! It's borax!" He was right. They subsequently sold their claim for a very large sum.

British Field Marshals.

A British field marshal never retires from the army. He may be placed on half pay, but is still borne on the active list. By the regulations there must not be more than eight field marshals receiving pay as such—that is exclusive of honorary field marshals such as foreign kings, emperors and princes. Of the eight regular field marshals two must be selected from the Indian army. The position of field marshal is a great one. The field marshal commanding in chief in the Mediterranean gets £5,000 a year. Probably a field marshal actively employed will get at least $30,000 a year. This is better than the pay of an admiral or the fleet, who may be said to be a naval field marshal, and gets only a little over £2,000 a year, exclusive of allowances.—Ireland's Own.

Napoleon's Name.

A Greek scholar called attention to a very curious coincidence about the name of Napoleon. If you take away the first letter of his name you have "napoleon" take away the first letter of that word, and you have "napoleon" and this successively down to the last syllable, and you have "napoleon" and "on." But these several words together in this order, Napoleon on den hee den napoleon releeon, and you have a Greek phrase the literal translation of which is "Napoleon, being the fleet of peoples, went about destroying cities."—Exchange.

The Dear Girls.

"I don't like my bow gown very well," said the young lady recently. "The model is awfully pretty and the style is all right, but it is not something to wear to the shop with."

"Why?" said her mother. "It is not a shop gown, it is a dress gown."

"But you can't go to the shop in a dress gown," said her mother.

GOLD RECORD.

The Sixty-third Congress ended at noon March 4th with more vital legislation than in any preceding Congress. During the session its members have passed legislation which will be equal to all the legislative sessions of the past two years. President Wilson has won the approval of the people in the course he has followed. The most important legislation of the 63rd Congress has been the general tariff act, the federal reserve currency act, the National Railroad act, the act for admission of foreign freight ships to American registry, the war risk insurance act, the repeal of free toll for American coastwise ships through the Panama Canal, the trade commission law, the Clayton trust act and many other measures of less importance. It is gratifying to the Democrats of the 24th Congressional District that Congressman A. R. Broadbent, whose term ended March 4th, voted for all the progressive legislation of the Wilson administration.

A short article on third page, "Support Your Home Merchant," deserves the careful reading and study of every one interested in his home town and county, and realize how easy it is to tear down the business that every one should want to see developed for his own good.

Equal Suffrage in Senate.

The Senate judiciary general committee on last Tuesday reported out the proposed constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote. There was an effort to keep the resolution in committee in order to have hearings. The majority appreciated the fact that the hearings were given two years ago and that all parties in their platforms had promised to submit the question to the voters. So by vote of 8 to 7 the amendment was reported out of committee and placed on the calendar and will come up for first reading next Monday night and could be finally voted upon next week. Senator Hoke of the Adams-Franklin district is to be congratulated upon his position in support for the bill.

Sinking Fund Commission.

A sinking fund commission has been formed by the County Commissioners, County Auditors and Treasurer of County. These officials met last week and elected Noah R. Beamer president, Geo. W. Baker, clerk to the commissioners, secretary, and Geo. E. Spangler, treasurer. $1,000 has been set aside each year for the past four years, and with interest now amounts to $4,235 and is bearing 5 1/4 per cent. An additional $1,000 will be added to fund July 1, 1915. This fund will be used to meet the outstanding bonds as they begin to mature.

Orchard Demonstration.

There will be an orchard demonstration at D. C. Jacobs, R. D. 5, on Wednesday, March 10. On the afternoon Mr. E. F. Peirce will make a demonstration of the way to make and apply spray liquids, do pruning on trees of different ages and kinds and will speak of modern methods of pest suppression and fruit production. These demonstrations began eight years ago and the call for them continues greater than ever as growers in every county of the State realize that they really are helping in the best and cheapest methods of producing first-class fruit.

To Clean Up Battlefield.

Twenty-six men, employed by the United States Government on Monday began improvements to the battlefield which will require all summer to complete. Winter rains have washed out many of the gutters along the various avenues and two large steam rollers will be used in making the repairs to the highways so that they will be in good shape by the time the tourist traffic of the season begins to arrive. Resodding the grass plots is another thing the men will have to do, as well as the rebuilding of stone walls and breastworks, which the weather and elements have damaged during the winter. All of the cannon and iron work at the various points will be repainted, also, and the bronze tablets will be polished. The men will be busy with the work until late next fall.

Hoof and Mouth Loss Being Paid.

The bill appropriating $100,000 for the payment of the State's share of the cattle killed, property destroyed and other expenses incurred in fighting the hoof and mouth disease was approved by Governor Brumbaugh last week. A like sum had been provided by the national government. Steps are in progress to pay the farmers and checkers for their losses can be expected at a very early date.

—Mrs. Ada J. Parcells will speak on "Temperance" at Gettysburg next Tuesday eve, March 9th, East Berlin on Wednesday, New Oxford Thursday, Fairfield Friday, Bendersville Saturday, Biglerville Sunday morning, and Arendtsville Sunday evening.

Modesty of Bach.
From the time when Bach was so fortunate as to receive the appointment of organist at Arnstadt, with an annual salary of $70 to $80 his desires were apparently fulfilled. He sought for no higher post, and only when a new one was offered him did he accept it thankfully as a gift of Providence. In every new position it was his only aspiration to do his duty faithfully, and accordingly he made his gifts serve his place, so that as an organist he composed organ pieces; as the Weimar chapelmaster psalms and sacred cantatas and chamber music and as the musician director of the St. Thomas school his great polyphonic, difficult vocal works. Kings and princes not infrequently commanded him to play to them. He did their will modestly and, fully satisfied, returned to his simple home. He must have known that he was the greatest organ virtuoso in the world, and at that time a great master of this instrument was well rewarded. He was highly esteemed in France, England and Holland, but was never known to express the wish of setting his foot on foreign soil. Johann Friedrich Rochitz.

Pretty Bad.
The barber was very busy, and the shop was full of men waiting for him to practice his tonsorial art upon their heads and necks.

One man, Mr. Blank, became tired of waiting for his turn to come and started to leave. Although his beard had come out pretty heavy, he thought no one would notice it and that he could come back the next morning when the barber was not so very busy. The barber, not wishing a customer to go away unattended to, accented him by saying, "You're not leaving us, are you, Mr. Blank?"

Mr. Blank felt of his face and replied, "Why, I don't need a shave, do I, Hughes?"

Highly thereupon looked his customer over critically and answered him assuringly: "No, you don't need a shave. All you need is a haircut on de face."—National Monthly.
